Tasks in Teams & Task Publishing
Reimagine task management

Coordinate at scale

Task publishing lets you create tasks centrally at the corporate level and publish those tasks to all locations or to locations with specific characteristics you define for your frontline teams such as size or type of department.

Add details like priority of task and attach documents such as pictures to help drive direction for completing the task.
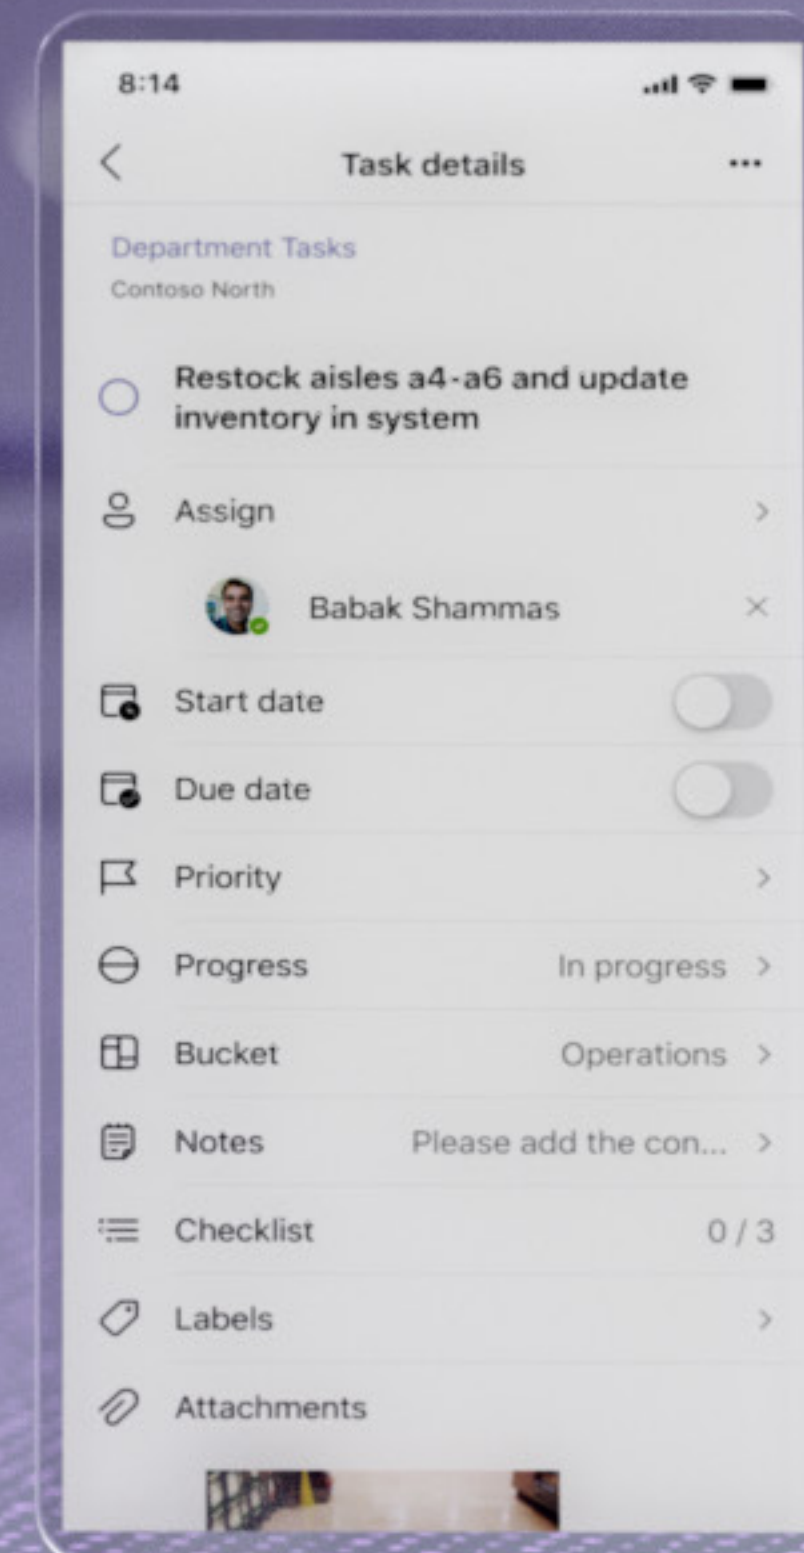

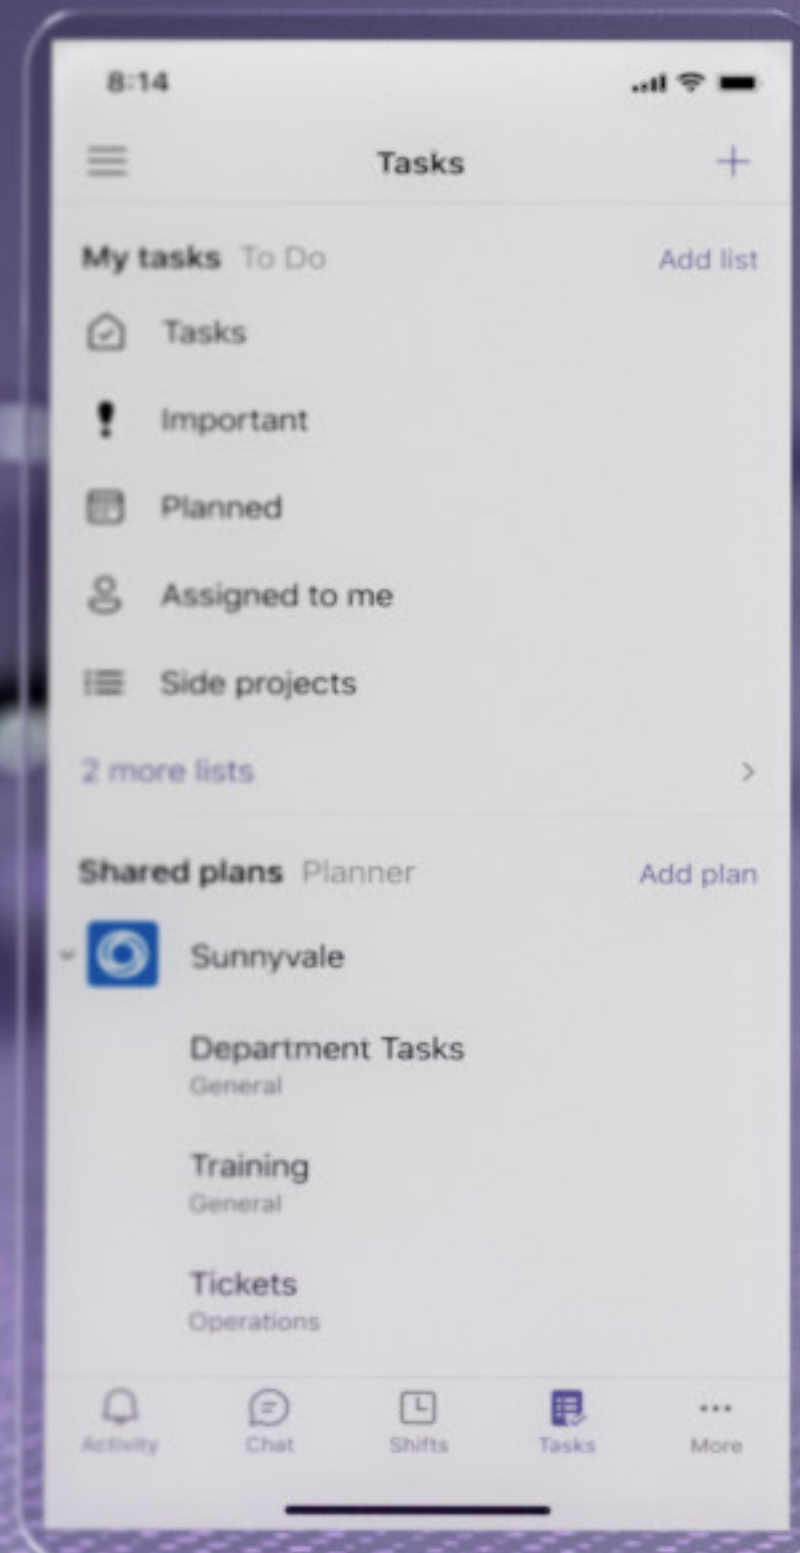

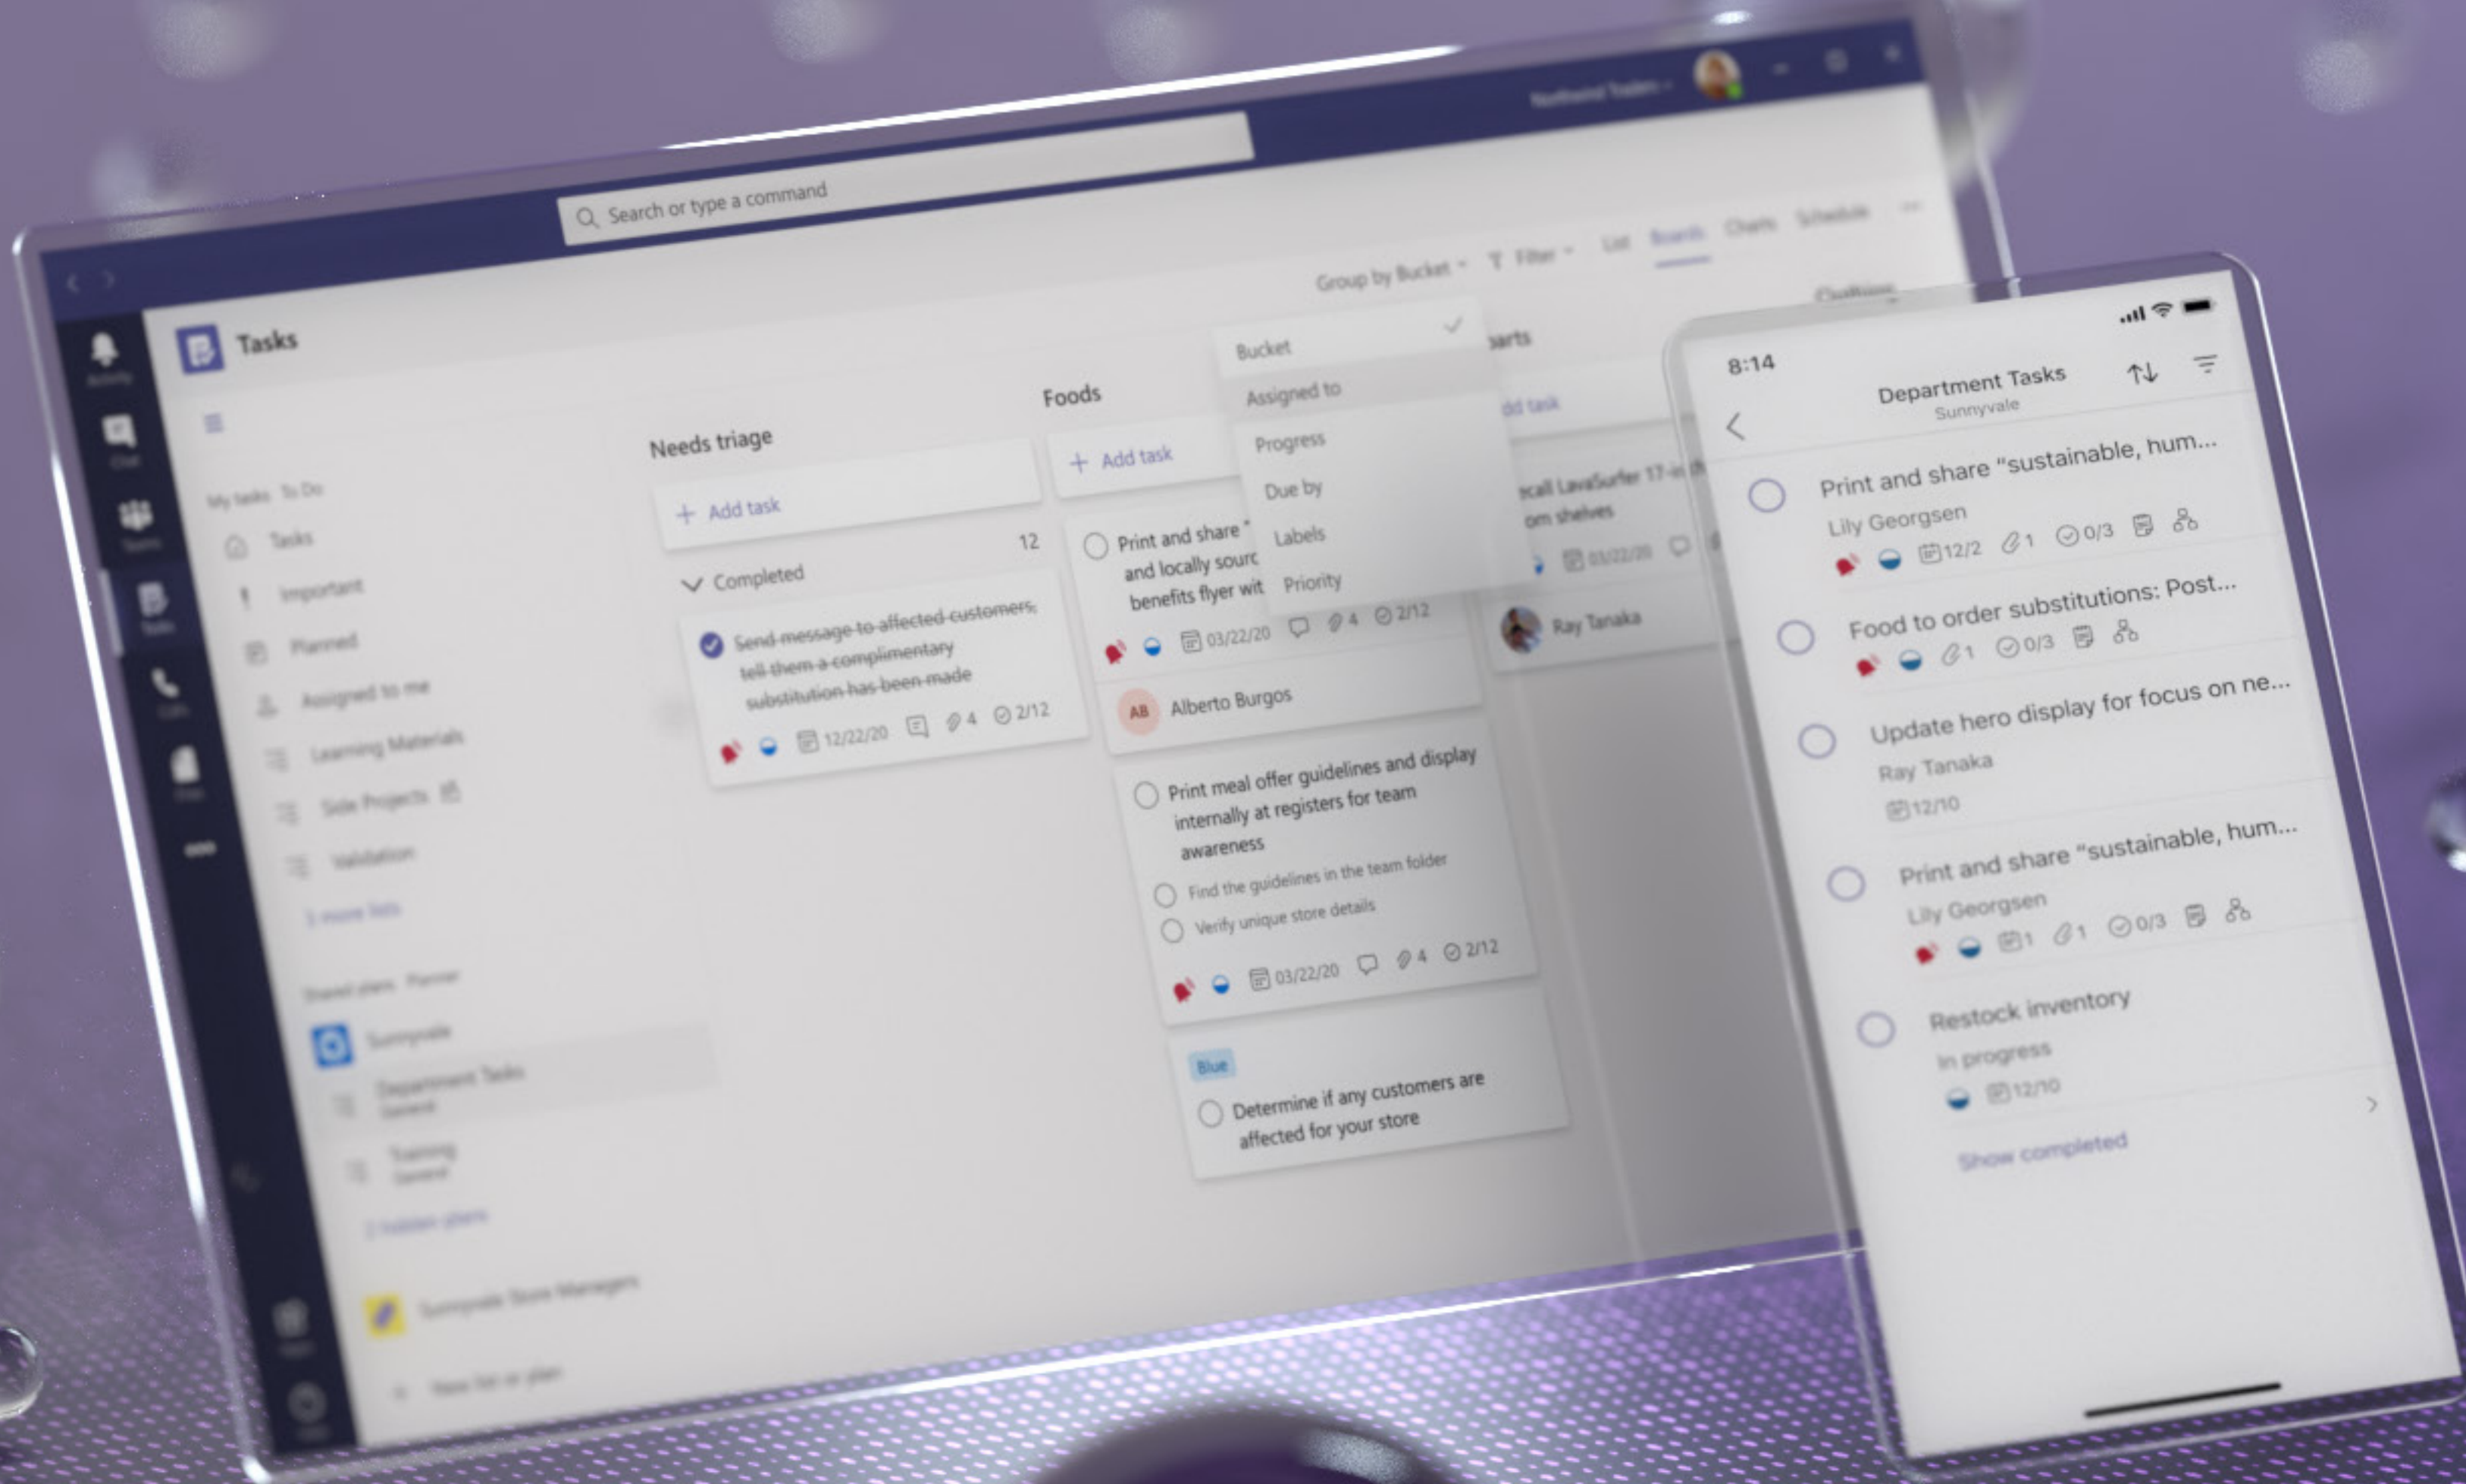

A simple list of tasks to get the job done

Frontline workers get clear, detailed directions from headquarters in the same app as the rest of the tools they need.

They can drill down into task details and capture documents as proof of completion.
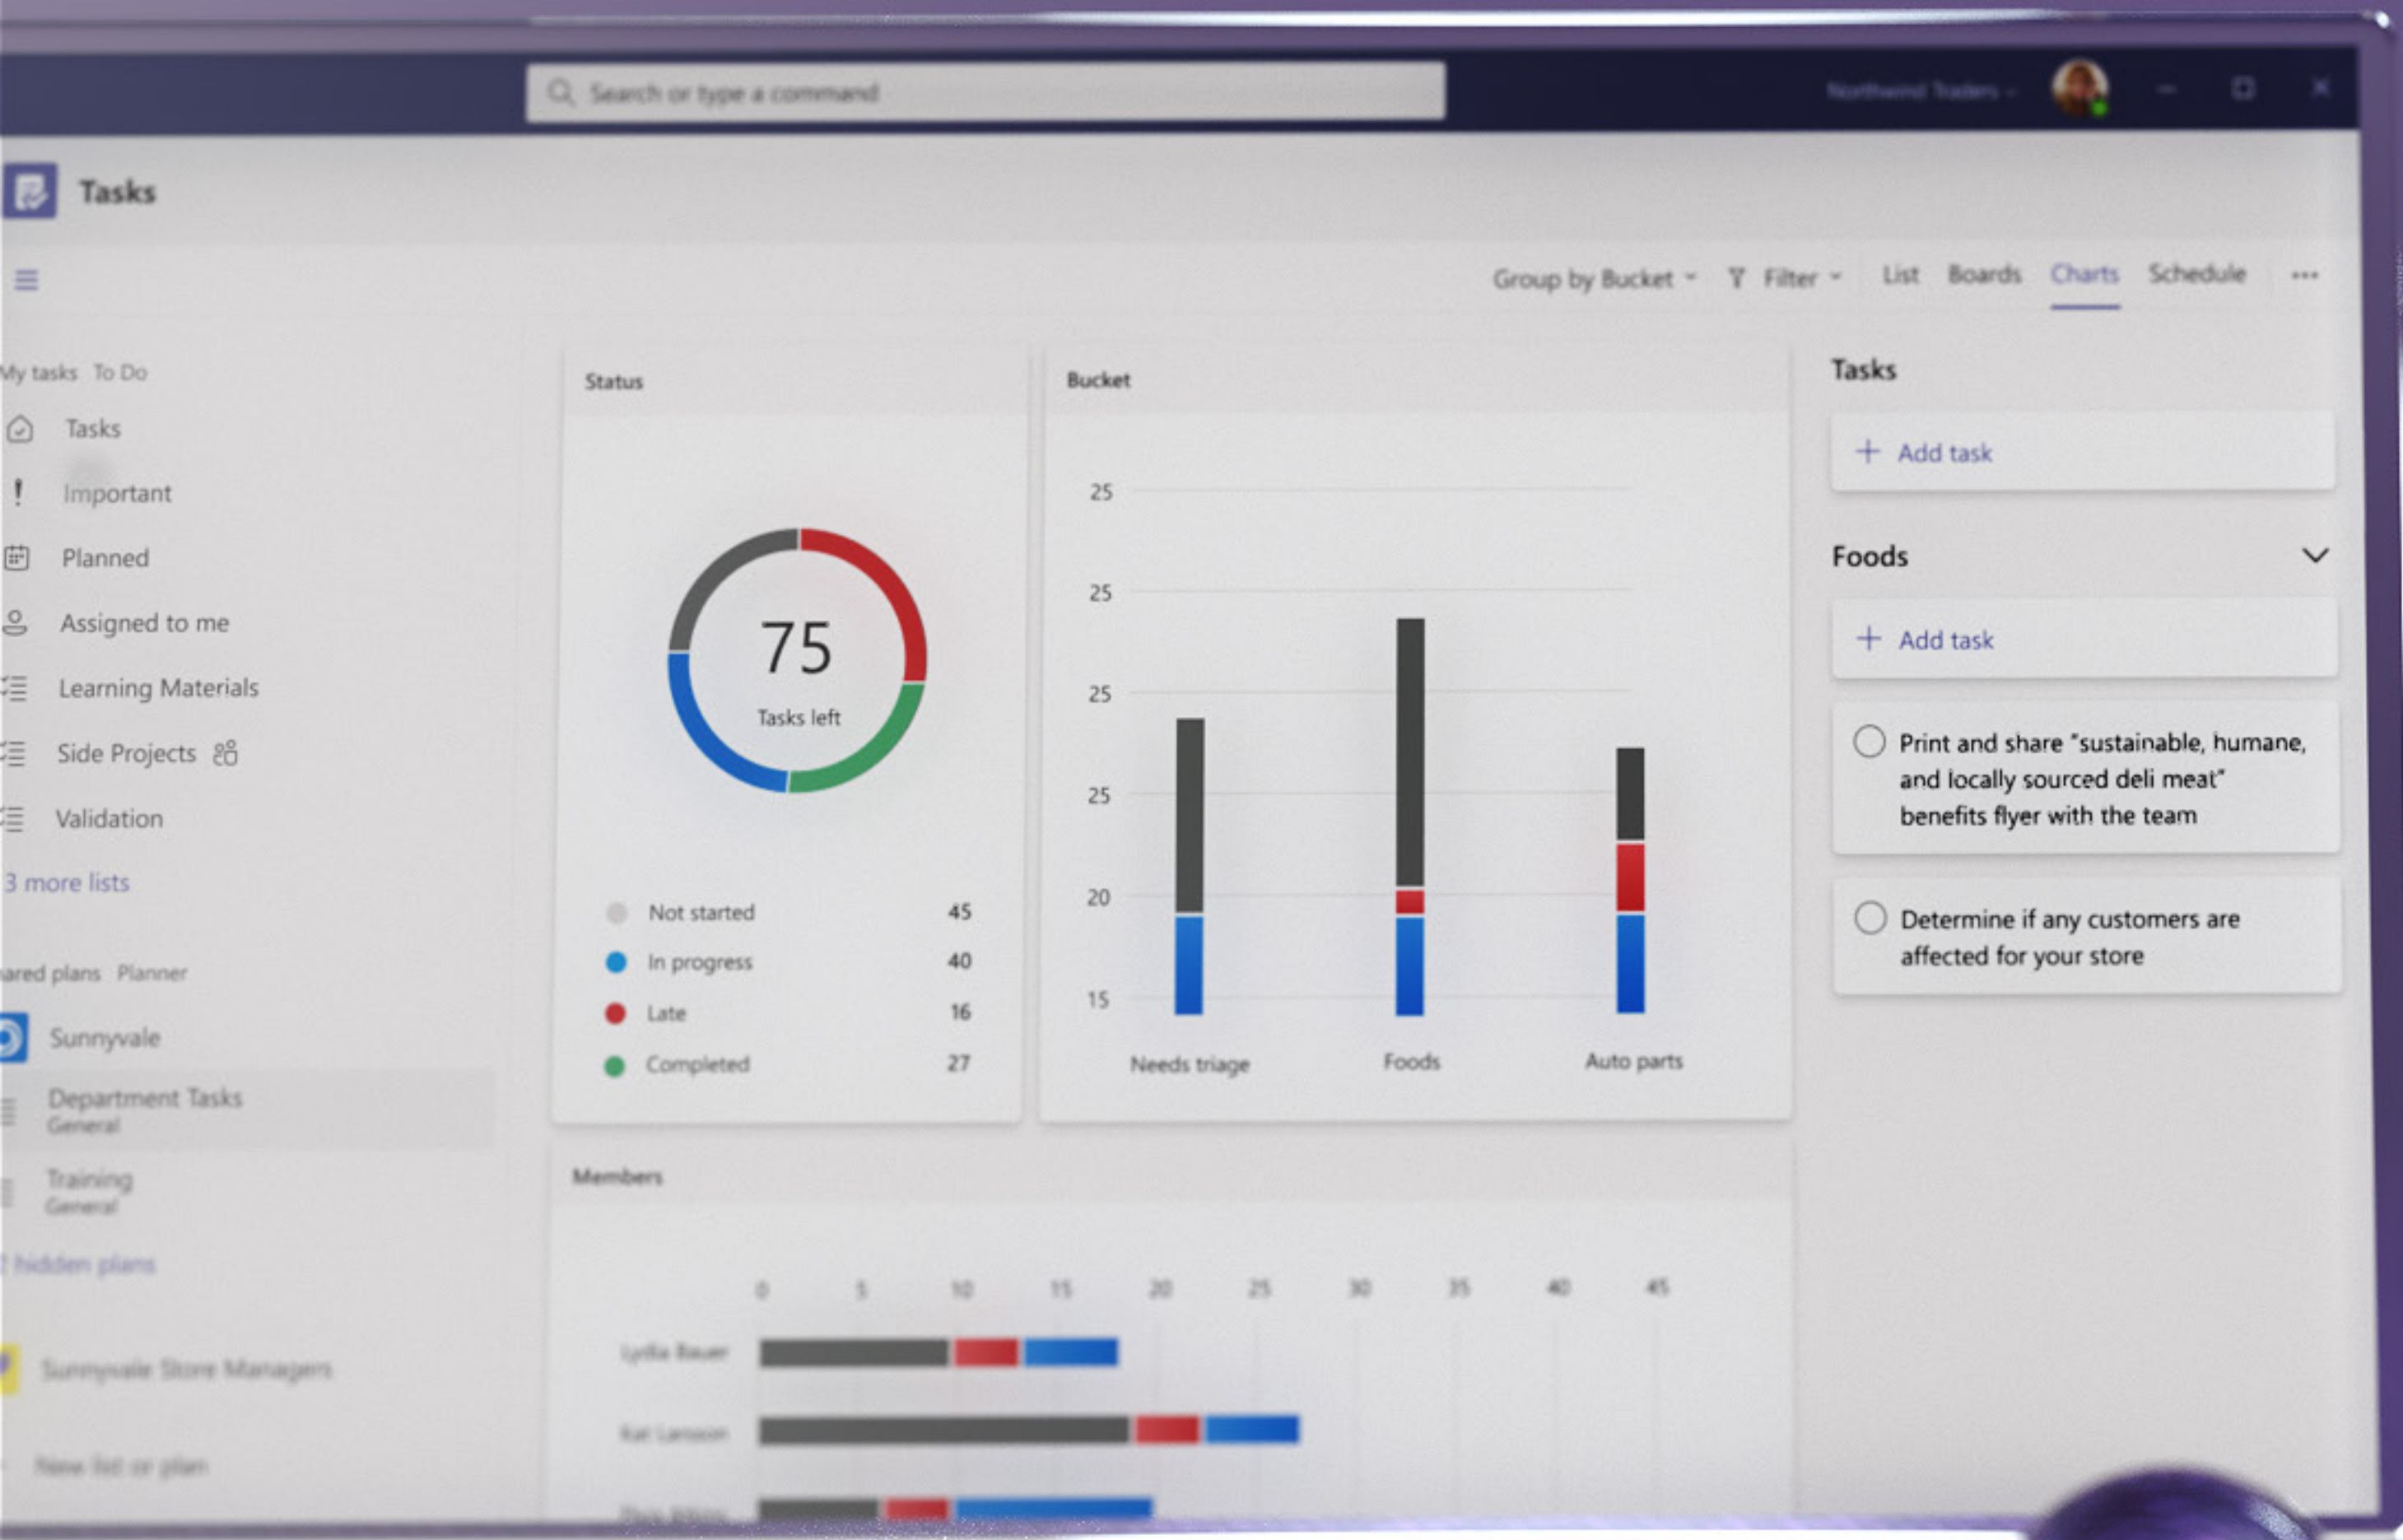

Save managers' time and energy

Keep the whole operation running smoothly without adding complexity. Managers can easily assign tasks to the right individual or to the entire team from the back room or on-the-go.

They can view tasks by department, due date and more to make sure the team stays on top of what needs to get done.
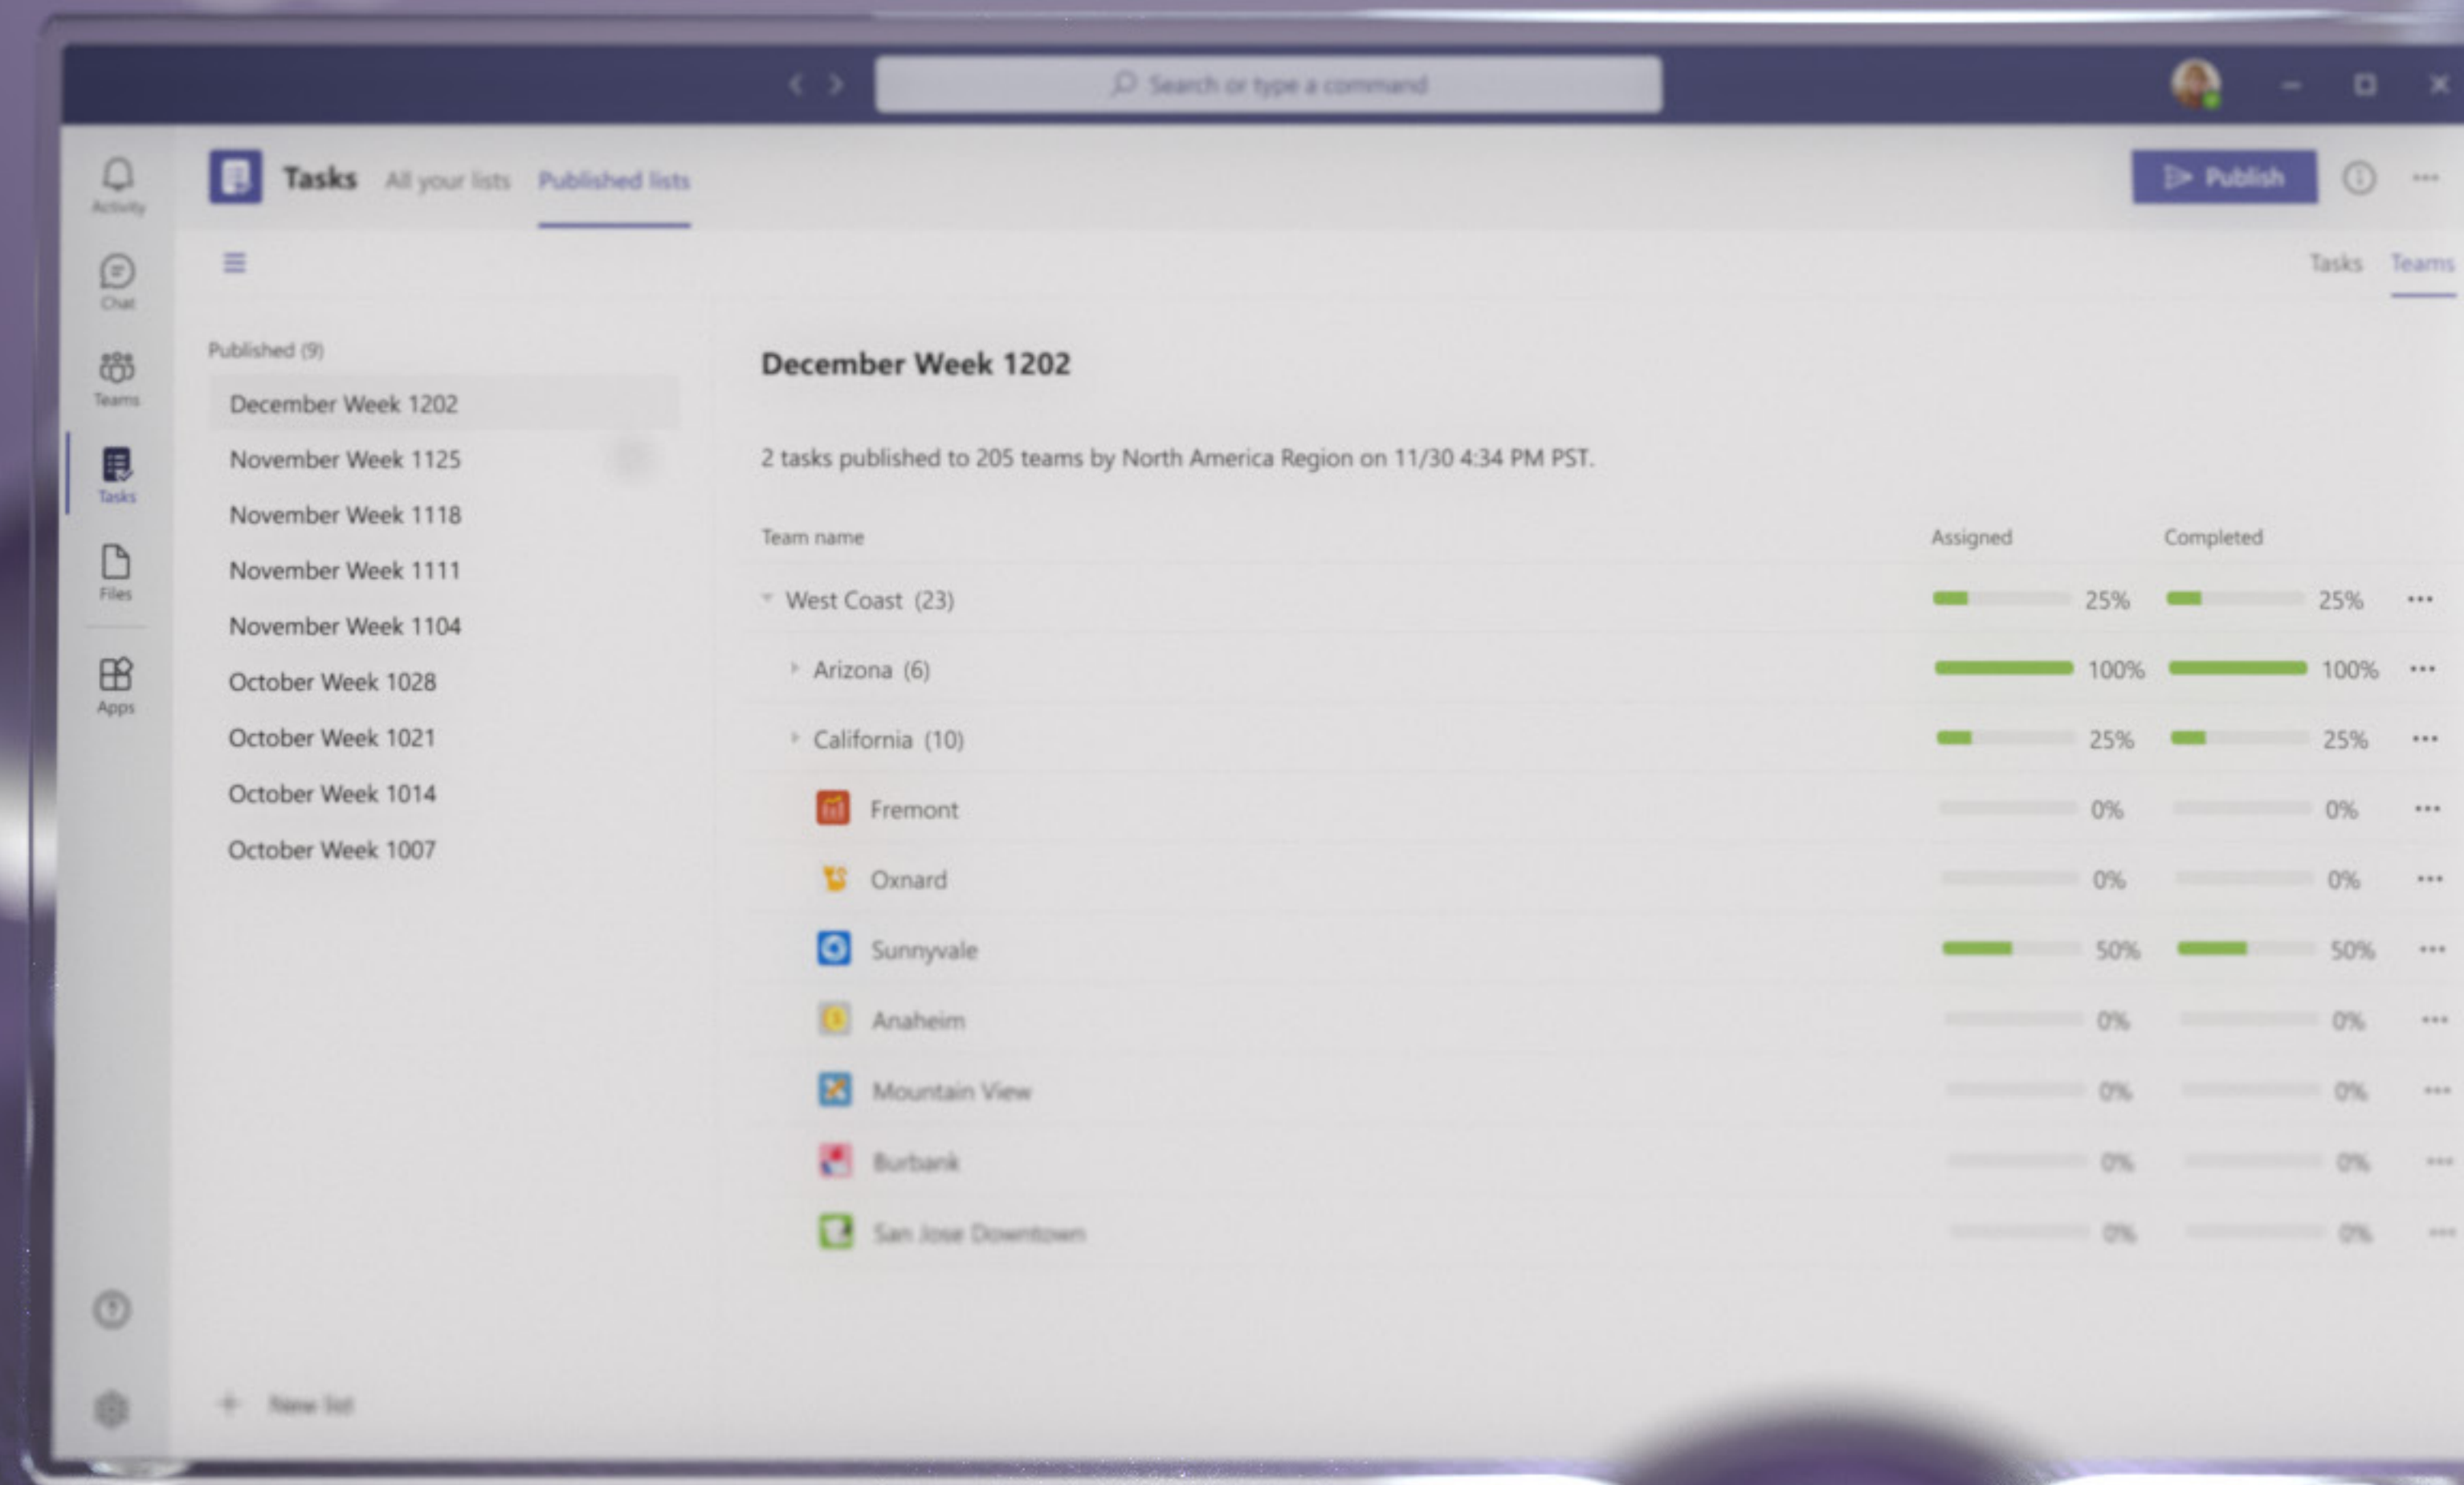

End-to-end visibility on team performance

Managers can view how their team is completing tasks so they can course correct if needed.

Real-time analytics for corporate teams

Corporate headquarters get real-time data on how locations, regions and other configurable characteristics of their workforce are performing with task assignments.

Don't just check a box, reimagine how Tasks can work for you and your frontline workforce.